ARBUCKLE CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

FAMOUS FILM COMEDIAN ORDERED TO BE TRIED ON MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE

Police Judge Lazarus Orders Murder Charge
Against Fatty Arbuckle Dismissed—Comedian
Is Held In $10,000 Bail And Lawyers Rush
To Free Him From Cell In County Jail

WOMEN CONGRATULATE ARBUCKLE

San Francisco, California, September 29.—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, famed movie comedian, must face trial for manslaughter, but not for murder.

Police Judge Lazarus so ruled in the police court here Wednesday at the conclusion of Arbuckle's preliminary hearing.

The court's order was that Arbuckle be held for trial for manslaughter and that the murder charge against him be dismissed. The decision came after attorneys had argued for more than an hour regarding various phases of the case.

Bail set at $10,000 bond.

Arbuckle's attorneys immediately asked release of their client on bail. Judge Lazarus set the bail at $10,000 bond or $5,000 cash, and lawyers left the courtroom immediately to arrange posting of the cash and to order Fatty's $20,000 car brought to the Hall of Justice as soon as court adjourned.

When the decision was announced Club women from the audience swarmed to the rail which stood between Arbuckle and the audience and began wringing his hand, patting him on the back and congratulating him.

Arbuckle hardly changed expression. He looked about as sober as he has always looked since his arrest two weeks and a half ago.

Wife Breaks Down
Minta Durfee, his wife, broke into tears and wept with joy on the big comedian's shoulder.

Arbuckle was plainly pleased and court spectators seemed to be too. "I see nothing in the evidence to present here which would warrant holding this defendant on a charge of murder," Judge Lazarus commented in announcing his decision.

It was expected that an immediate assignment of Arbuckle's case to the Court of Superior Judge Ward would be made.

German Mark Now Reaches A New Low Level--128 For $1

New Record Price Is Set Wednesday No Attempt Made To Stop Decline

Berlin, Ger., Sept. 29.—(By United News)—For one dollar you can now purchase 128 German marks. In pre war days you used to get four for a dollar, with a few pennies besides.

When the mark receded—or the dollar advanced—until they were worth 1 cent apiece it was believed the limit had been reached. Within the past week however they have dropped still further until the present price, a fraction over 3-4 cent was reached Wednesday.

The steady increase of paper currency has brought about this situation and while German bankers previously made some attempt to hold up the value of the mark, lately there has been no such tendency, possibly by design.

THE WEATHERMAN SAYS:

"Well, I had you guessing yesterday, but it looks like this old fellow here won't get his feathers wet while the Fair's on today unless he takes a shower bath."

VOTE ON PEACE TREATIES TO BE ASKED SOON

Senators Will Be Given
Last Chance To Speak
On Treaty Issue

Washington, D. C. Sept. 29.—(By United News)—Unless Senators explicitly desire to speak on the peace treaty with the Central Powers, now pending, a vote will be asked with out further delay according to Senator Lodge, Republican leader.

Lodge made this announcement at the conclusion of a short night's session Wednesday. Another night session will be held Thursday, he said, and unless there is speaking he will move for ratification.

ANOTHER MOVIE ACTOR LANDS IN JAIL IN CALIFORNIA

Joseph Moore, One Of The Famous Moore Bros. Quartet, Jailed On Mother's Complaint As Drunkard

Los Angeles, Sept. 29.—Joseph Moore, movie actor, and brother of Owen, Tom and Max Moore, all film stars, was in jail here Wednesday on charges of drunkenness preferred by his mother.

In jail, Moore admitted he had been drunk for a week. "Eight years is nearer the truth," said his mother. Moore married Grace Cunniff, picture actress in an elopement in 1917 but has been living with his mother in Hollywood.

MINISTERS GOING AFTER PROBE OF JURY STRIKE

Chester, Pa., Sept. 29.—(By United News)—The Ministerial Association of Chester has proposed an investigation of the methods used in picking grand juries in Media as a result of the strike of 11 jurors last week. The step was taken Wednesday to determine why the remaining nine jurors refused "enbloc" to convict the accused gamblers when the strikers held evidence to be in favor of conviction.

FAITH IN HOME FOLKS SUSTAINS WOMAN IN LONG HIKE

Sunbury, Pa., Sept. 29.—(By United News)—Sick from exposure and exhausted by a 173 mile hike from Philadelphia toward her home in Scranton, Mrs. Mary Black, was picked up with her four year old daughter by a passing motorist here Wednesday. When revived by police she said her husband was dead and she worked as a waitress in Philadelphia. Recently discharged she thought her people in Scranton would take care of her so began walking there.

BRITISH REPLY TO IRISH PEACE NOTE IS AGAIN DELAYED

Lloyd George Wants To Give Ministers Time To Have Full Say

NOTE WILL BE SENT TODAY

London, Sept. 29.—(By United News)—The unexpected announcement from Gairloch that Lloyd George's reply to DeValera would not be dispatched until Thursday gave rise to rumors that a new hitch, possibly a cabinet disagreement, had caused postponement of the premier's action.

It has been understood from semi-official sources that the reply, in the form in which Lloyd George had submitted it to his colleagues in the cabinet, would be delivered Wednesday. It is now believed that the note will undergo some alteration before it is sent.

Press Says No Hitch
In announcing the postponement the Press Association gives the official version of the incident which is that "no hitch has occurred but Lloyd George decided to wait another 24 hours in order to give opportunity to all the ministers to make their feelings known in regard to the document."

Advices from Dublin where the Sinn Fein cabinet is waiting, ready to consider the reply the moment it was received showed a great deal of disappointment over the new delay but the belief persists that the peace conference will be held.

Whether the postponement signifies a change in the character of the reply is problematical.

TROOPS MANEUVER BEFORE GENERAL JACK PERSHING

Robtanz, Sept. 29.—(By United News)—The intensely trained American soldiers of the Rhine Army of Occupation went through their paces for Gen. John J. Pershing Wednesday as he rode his prancing horse along the French line during the long awaited field maneuvers.

Pershing was accompanied by Lt. Gen. Moreland, of the British Army, and General Rouquoy, of the Belgian Army as well as by Maj. Gen. Henry T. Allen, U. S. A. commanding the Army of Occupation.

The soldiers executed all the highly modern maneuvers in which they have been schooled lately and using ball ammunition demolished their targets, incidentally stirring up hundreds of rabbits.

Proposed Rail Merger Finds Western Executives In Ignorance Of Detail

Unable To Answer Any Inquiries And Themselves Seek For More Information

19 COMPETITIVE
ROUTES PLANNED

Chicago, Sept. 29.—(By United News)—Western rail executives don't know whether or not they approve of the plan announced by the Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday calling for the consolidation of railroads of the country into 19 competitive systems.

Almost unanimously they confess ignorance of the details of the plan which is, with some modifications, the result of a study of American transportation needs by Prof. W. E. Riple, the Harvard economist.

Attempt to interview them resulted in the interview being interrupted. "Does it mean that the paying roads have got to absorb dead timber?" "Where would our stock and bond holders find themselves?" "How could it cut our operation costs?" "Wouldn't present rates and business practice be at least ten years gone before the merger could be perfected?"

These are sample questions the executives asked. President W. B. Story, of Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe summed up the general views of executives here.

MRS. JACOB McLARRIN
Mrs. Jacob McLarrin died at her home at West Decatur, Pa., at 5 o'clock yesterday morning. She had been in failing health for some time. The funeral will be held from her late home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with interment in the Osceola cemetery.

PICKPOCKETS AT WORK AMONG THE FAIR CROWDS

Two Wallets Nabbed By Light Fingers Gentry
At Wednesday Fair

Pickpockets were operating at the fair grounds yesterday afternoon and visitors to the fair the balance of the week are warned to keep tight hold on their "weasel skins" while looking over the exhibits or gossiping over the thrilling finishes on the race track.

The fair management has made ample arrangement for police protection and have plenty of officers at hand to take care of the ordinary happenings but the light fingered gentry are as a rule extraordinarily expert and it is up to the individual fair-goer to guard his valuables.

Race Over Wallet Gone
During the excitement incident to the finish of one of the races yesterday afternoon George W. ROLLINGER, of Ansonville, was jammed up against the fence around the track, and when the finish came and the crowd eased back Mr. ROLLINGER discovered that his wallet containing $18 in good United States Currency, had departed from his left hand trouser pocket never to return.

Mr. ROLLINGER made complaint to Chief of Police Hitt, but no trace of wallet or money could be found. Another fair visitor who failed to give his name to the police, also

Round Up Of Missing Primary Vote Returns Begins In 44 Districts

The County Commissioners and Messrs Charles Weimer, Al B. Newling and George Lukehart, Jr., of the official returning board engaged in tabulating the returns of the recent primary election, in pursuit of a court order, started out today to round up the correct election returns from the 44 districts in the county which transmitted erroneous returns. The ballot boxes in each of these districts will be opened by the

Fair Grounds Mecca For Thousands Wednesday

Crowd Throngs Grounds From Early Morning On —Exhibits, Races And Attractions Prove To Be Top Notch Drawing Cards.
Expect Bigger Crowds Today

The big Clearfield County Fair was the mecca today for people from every section of the county, and when the ticket takers began their final count for the afternoon, the register showed more than ten thousand visitors or sightseers on the grounds.

The Clearfield County Fair has been growing in volume, importance and popularity by leaps and bounds the past five years and has now gotten to the point where it is no longer an experiment, but a really worth while agricultural exhibition. It has behind it the farmers of Clearfield county, buttressed with Clearfield's leading business men, and that combination has satisfied the people that this fair is held each year, not as a money maker, but as a means of showing to all the people of this section of Pennsylvania that Clearfield county is yearly growing in importance as an agricultural community, and her people generally are proud of her achievements along that line.

4,000 SCHOOL CHILDREN VISIT FAIRGROUNDS

About four thousand school children took advantage of the offer by the Clearfield Fair Association of free admission to the park Wednesday and were on hand with their parents or teachers to look the wonders of the fair over.

The Clearfield pupils, from public and parochial school to the number of two thousand, marched to the park in the afternoon behind the Curwensville and Clearfield American Bands and certainly made an inspiring and impressive sight as led by City Supt. Zerfoss and the Agricultural and Fair Association officials, they marched into the grounds and around the track past the grand stand.

Not a single accident occurred among the young folks during their visit, thanks to the perfect arrangements by the municipal authorities and park people to look after their welfare.

10,000 Attend Wednesday
Wednesday more than ten thousand people crowded into the park to look over the exhibits and enjoy the amusements provided by the fair committee. What these visitors found there met with universal approval and great praise showered upon the management from every hand.

The live stock exhibit, as we have said before, and are proud to repeat, were simply marvelous and attracted constant streams of visitors during the day.

The amusement features were many and varied and offered everybody opportunity to enjoy themselves.

The Races Were Fine
Of course no county fair is complete without a horse race and the racing program featured that end of a perfect afternoon. There were two races on the card and despite a very heavy track they were both highly interesting and good time was made. The results were as follows:

2:30 Pace. Purse $350.
This race was hotly contested, it taking five heats to decide, Twinkling Lind, owned by Joseph Dasing, won.

State Health Commissioner Endorses Tubercular Hospital

T. B. Hospital Plan Fostered By The Womans Club Of Clearfield

Hearty endorsement has been received from Col Martin, State Commissioner of Health, of the movement which has been launched in Clearfield County to have the County establish and conduct a hospital for the treatment of residents suffering from tuberculosis in the advanced stages. An act passed by the recent legislature empowers County Commissioners to do this where the project received the approval of the voters.

The Anti-Tuberculosis Committee of the Women's Club of Clearfield, which has charge of this branch of health work in this County is fully alive to the local situation and needs and is preparing a petition to be presented to the Commissioners asking them, to submit the question to the voters for their approval at the election next November.

T. B. Hospital Only Practical Way
In discussing the need of such an institution in Clearfield County it seems remarkable that all authorities on tuberculosis agree that a County Tuberculosis Hospital is the most practical way of caring for developed cases and the best preventive measure. Col Martin says he is eager to see each county have such a hospital. He adds "Tuberculosis is a transmissible and largely preventable disease. It is transmitted from those who have it most easily and assuredly to children of a family cramped for living quarters, a member of which is in the final stage. In the months of dying he blights those about him. For the protection of these children and of other contacts, for the lessening of the future burdens on the community and the state, these suffering from advanced tuberculosis should be cared for in a sanatorium or hospital which their homes; that their last days may have at least the solace of some human contact with those near and dear to them.

The full membership of the American Legion cornet band went to Clearfield on Wednesday and rendered good music for the big crowd of people who assembled there.

A foot ball game is scheduled to come off between Oseola H. S. and a squad from Curwensville on Saturday afternoon at Athletic grounds. From all accounts the game will be a fast one.

The town was almost deserted on Wednesday owing to the fact that nearly all of the adult population went to Clearfield to the fair. The borough schools closed during the afternoon to permit the children to go down and view the exhibits.

The Jitney proprietors have added and put into service a new bus. It is a dandy and for convenience and easy riding, lays the old one in the shade. It is both heated and lighted, and the patrons are tickled to death over its comfort in riding in it.

The American Legion band went to Clearfield on Wednesday and played for the fair. It was highly commended for the fine music.

Simple Wireless Messages.

The waves of wireless stations are constantly passing through our houses and our bodies and we neither see, hear nor feel them. COMPANY GOOD THINGS.

Fruits are most satisfactory served fresh and as simply as possible, or garnished with their own foliage. For a change one will enjoy something different.

Blackberry Ice Cream.—Dissolve two and one-fourth tablespoons fuls of powdered gelatin in one and one-half cupsful of hot water. Scald four cupsful of milk, add one cupful of sugar, the dissolved gelatin, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and two cupsful of whipped cream. Freeze until nearly. Crush one quart of blackberries through a sieve and add them to the frozen mixture and finish freezing. Remove the dasher and repack to ripen for two to three hours. Serve in sherbet cups; garnish with whole fresh berries rolled in granulated sugar.

Iced Chocolate.—Melt four squares of chocolate with half a cupful of sugar, add one cupful of water and cook in a double boiler until smooth. Scald one quart of cream and add to the chocolate, beating thoroughly; cool, strain, flavor with vanilla and freeze. Serve frozen like mush.

Strawberry Gateau.—Bake a round sponge cake, when cold cut off the top and scoop out the center leaving a two-inch shell. Heap with strawberries well mixed with sugar; cover with sweetened whipped cream and serve at once.

Rhubarb and Fig Preserve.—Take three pounds of rhubarb, two and one-half pounds of sugar, one pound of figs, and two ounces of cumbed peel. Cut the rhubarb into inch lengths, chop the peel and figs and scatter over the rhubarb; cover with the sugar and let stand until the next day. Boil slowly for an hour; add a small piece of ginger root. Stir into jars and seal.

Frozen Dishes, Ice Cream and Sherbets. are always welcome hot-weather desserts. A sherbet which is especially good is made by using three lemons, two cupsful of sugar and a quart of rich milk. Freeze as usual. It will curdle, but when frozen will be smooth and velvety.

Tables Made of Paper.
Tables, chairs and other articles of furniture are now made from compressed paper so colored and polished as to give it the appearance of the finest woods.

White Stains on Hardwood.

A mixture of salt and olive oil will remove white stains from hardwood which are caused by hot dishes. The dry spot is covered thickly with salt, and then as much olive oil is poured over as the grain will take up. This stands over night, and in the morning the discoloration should be briskly rubbed with the mixture, which is then wiped off. If there is still any trace of stain, the application is repeated, again standing for hours.

Graphite.

Down to 1870 graphite was obtained chiefly from the Borrowdale mine in Cumberland, England. Since then a supply has been drawn from eastern Siberia; from Ticonderoga, New York State; Buckingham, Quebec; and Bohemia. Graphite is also produced in Ceylon, and Madagascar. Artificial graphite is also being manufactured.

AN OPTIMISTIC REPORT

A lengthy summary of business conditions just compiled by the head of the Third Federal Reserve District has a decidedly optimistic tone. Here are the high points:

For the second month industrial and trade conditions have shown improvement.

It must not be inferred that business has made any very substantial steps toward recovery, as this improvement at its present rate must continue for several months before it "turns the corner."

The spectacular rise in the cotton market has been a factor in the rejuvenation of the textile trade.

Conditions in the wool industry are generally better, although the demand for cloth, particularly overcoatings, is lighter.

Buying activity in shoe industry rather slight, but manufacturers have had sufficient orders to run 75 per cent of capacity. Belting sales much improved, indicating renewed industrial activity.

Most significant of changes in conditions is continued gain in the iron and steel industry. Demand for pig iron and steel ingots has grown steadily. Precipitous declines in finished steel checked.

Demand for coke increased and price advanced, although higher price caused by wage increases.

Little doing in steam coal, but inquiries more plentiful.

Buying of bituminous coal still at low ebb, but slightly above July and August, owing to increased purchases by railroads.

Reports from wholesale grocery trade disclose an increase of ten per cent in August sales, compared with July and this month is better.

THE HAND OF WOODROW

Just about the time the average headline writer was getting ready to discard the name of Woodrow Wilson as good news timber and the keeper of the newspaper morgue was preparing to throw the gentleman's picture into the waste basket, along comes the evidence that from his private residence in Washington the former President is busy outlining the platform on which the Senate Democrats are to fight ratification of the peace treaties, and there is every indication that Democratic Senators are ready and willing, as of yore, to do his bidding. Well, Woodrow, welcome back. You were a great hand at making news and every newspaper man will be glad to know that you are to get back into the ring with your typewriter.

CALLS RUSSIANS CROOKS

Emerson P. Jennings, of Allentown, Pa., is the latest American manufacturer to have his eyes opened to the hypocrisy and villany of the Russian Soviet Government. Mr. Jennings was imbued with the idea that all Russia needed was American credit, but happily before he risked his dollars he packed his grip and set sail for Europe. Once in the land of soviet madness he quickly changed his mind and now he is back warning others that "Russian Communist leaders have to be treated as crooks, because he has found by experience that they are crooks, nothing more and nothing less."

BILLY ADAMS, BALL PLAYER, RECOVERS FROM SICK NESS

Doctors Baffled, Adams Takes Up Christian Science And Is Able To Make Trip Here To Visit His Brother

Billy Adams, the well known base ball pitcher who suffered an attack of heart trouble at Hartford, Conn., last year, where he was playing and has been out of the game seriously ill, has so far recovered as to be able to make a visit to his brother T. S. Adams of this place, and with his wife and child, is now a guest at the Adams home on Martin street.

Billy has been suffering from a peculiar heart affection which not only laid him low but baffled the skill of the best physicians in the land. Every doctor called to prescribe for him were forced to give up Billy's case without a cure and all were a unit in saying that medical skill was powerless to help him in any way. He was confined to his bed for months powerless to even get up. At this point a relative who is a Christian Scientist stepped in and asked to be privileged to send a healer of that faith to attempt to restore him to health. With all to gain consent was given. The Christian Scientist physician, a lady, called at the Adams home in Hartford, visited the patient, convinced him that he could arise and Billy did so. That was several weeks ago and despite the warning of his regular physician that any exertion would be fatal Billy went from Hartford to visit his parents near Massillon, Ohio, and then to his sisters at Akron, and yesterday arrived in Clearfield both looking and feeling fine. The writer is not a Christian Scientist, but Billy is, and we certainly do not blame him for being so. Who wouldn't? He has the courage of his convictions at that, and we are giving you this story as an actual and peculiar happening, purely as a matter of news and not as a testimonial either, because Billy Adams in good health, after what we knew of his condition, precludes any necessity for other testimonial.

Say that It Does All that Is Claimed For It, Quiets the Nerve, Aids Digestion, and Produces Restful Sleep

"I recommend Nerv Worth because of the fact that it certainly does benefit me when I become nervous and tired out after a long term of nursing. Thus wrote Clair Chiller, a Parkersburg, W. Va. nurse some time ago and she continued, 'In my business it becomes necessary to lose lots of sleep and many hours of constant watching which wears on the nerves. Nerv Worth does all that you claim for it. It quiets the nerves, aids digestion, and produces restful sleep.' The above is an endorsement from a woman whose profession constantly throws her in contact with medicines and their uses, and various kinds of sickness. A nurse does not recommend anything that is not good, and her recommendation is worth while. Nothing needs to be added to the above statement, as it tells fully what Nerv Worth does. If you suffer from nervousness, sleeplessness stomach trouble or their attending ills, gives this famous preparation a trial, and if your first trial bottle does not prove that it is helping you your money will be refunded. You will finally come to Nerveworth for real results so why not start now? Be sure to get the genuine Nerv-Worth in the large bottle. people is not merely an expression of sympathy for the afflicted but it is an efficient means of protecting the public at large from the white plague. Such action while supplying an immediate and urgent need, is a long step forward in that campaign of prevention which is the keynote of modern sanitation. Moreover it is a credit and an honor to a country to take this step."

Let all who are not content with the local tuberculosis situation get the facts and be prepared to support this worthy movement. CORN BORER QUARANTINE TO BE DISCUSSED

Washington, D. C. Sept. 29.—A formal hearing to consider further steps necessary to prevent the spread of the European Corn Borer, which now threatens to invade the Corn Belt, will be held here October 11 by the Federal Horticultural Board of the United States Department of Agriculture. Federal quarantines against the pest now exist in the States of New Hampshire, Massachusetts, New York and Pennsylvania.

Recent investigations also indicate a very rapid spread of borer in the present season, with new infestations in northwestern Pennsylvania and in northern Ohio, and the survey is still incomplete.

The insect is now so widely dispersed that it is necessary to consider the adoption of regional quarantines to be discussed at the hearing or as an alternative plan, the complete abandonment of all quarantine action. It is an open question whether the protection of non-infested areas that can be secured through quarantine action from now on, will justify the expense of enforcement and the interference with commerce.

IOWA FARMERS HIT BY RECENT HEAVY RAINS

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 29.—(By United News)—Iowa farmers will not only half the return the 1920 crop brought it was stated here Wednesday by Charles D. Reed, state cargo expert.

Beside the price differences great damage has been done to corn by heavy rains recently, Reed said.

Exhibition Running Race
The "Groundhog Grenadiers" from Punxsutawney put on an exhibition running race and followed that with a couple of spectacular events. These latter consisted of a Roman standing race in which the entire company of six men participated. These races were thrilling in the extreme and were highly entertaining.

Van Norman's Thriller
Van Norman again thrilled the large audience with his death defying loop the loop down a fifty foot incline into a net.

Daylight Fire Works
A fine daylight fireworks program completed the afternoon exhibitions and everybody left the park at its conclusion feeling they sure had had their money's worth for the day.

Community Singing Makes Hit
The evening program at the park was opened by concerts by both the Curwensville and local American Legion Bands. These bands are among the top notch musical organizations of Central Pennsylvania and their entertainment was highly pleasing.

A new feature was the community "sing" under the auspices of and direction of the Clearfield Rotary Club. A stereopticon threw the words on a screen erected over the baseball diamond and the crowd of several hundred singers made pleasing harmony.

Evening Fireworks
The regular program was ended by the greatest display of fireworks ever attempted in this section.

Col. Ferar's Shows then took over the crowds and the carnival spirit enlivened the occasion for the balance of the evening.

TEN JAP SAILORS RESCUED—LITTLE SHIP WAS SINKING

Portland, Ore., Sept. 29.—(By United News).—Storm tossed at sea, their little gasoline ocean going steamer waterlogged and helpless ten Japanese sailors were rescued by the Steamer Abercuse on her voyage homeward from the Orient. The rescue according to Capt. Woods, was merely a thrill in the old romance of the sea.

Awful Moment.
Anxious to get to church on time, as an interesting sermon on gambling was scheduled, I hastied around getting ready. Opening a bureau drawer I grabbed what I thought was my prayer book and rushed over to the church. Marching down the aisle I accidentally dropped my muff, and, instead of my prayer book, a deck of cards came tumbling out and scattered in all directions! To make matters worse, the back of the cards bore the ad of a prominent brewery!—Grit.

A Frog Concert.
As I sat on the piazza that evening, I noticed first an ominous absence of bird voices, and next the presence of a numerous frog population about the little lake close by. The musical performances of these roiling reptiles began about sunset and increased in volume and power till nothing else could be heard. If all the thrushes in the state had assembled in that spot and sung their loudest, they could not have been heard above the awful volume of frog voices.—Olive Thorne Miller.

Cat Mothers Fox Pups.
An Ontario reader writes that her cat fostered three fox pups since they were two weeks old. The pups were taken from the mother because it was feared they might chill. The cat had five kittens which were disposed of, and the foxes were promptly adopted in their place. The foxes are now over three months old and although larger than their foster mother, are still fond of her. They are kept now in a wire pen and kitty is quite content to remain with them all day long, enjoying an occasional frolic.

THE GRANARY

A Column of News and Timely Topics for the Man Who Feeds the World

SHEEP—Feed the ewes a little extra prior to breeding time. A change of pasture some brookens, pumpkins, a small patch of rape and a small amount of oats daily will insure good condition for the production of vigorous offspring.

GRAIN MOTH—Examine unthreshed wheat for presents of the destructive grain moth. If it is there, plan to thresh as soon as possible. Moth in bins may be controlled by spraying with carbon bisulphide, one pint to 100 bushels of grain.

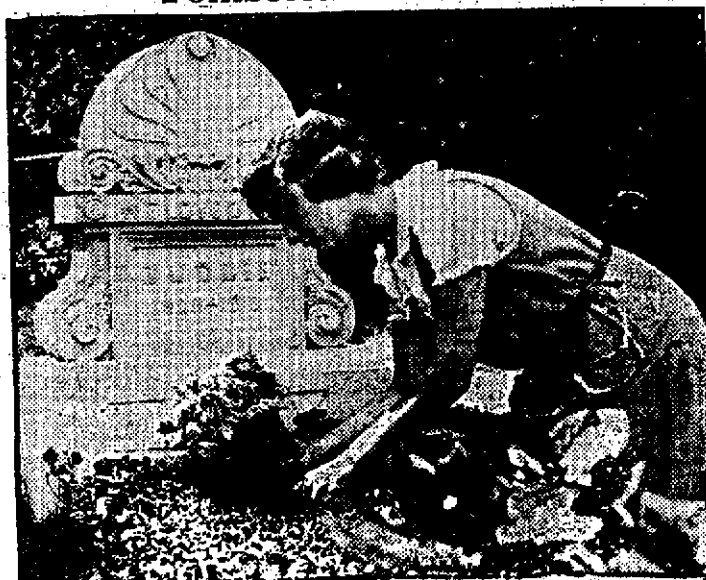

FALL FRESH COWS—Dairymen should arrange the breeding schedule of the herd so that most of the cows will come fresh in the fall. They not only give more milk in a year if they freshen in the fall, but most of it comes during the season when prices are high and labor more abundant and less costly.

GARDEN—Rye can still be sown on bare ground in the garden, and will help improve the soil. A light dressing of acid phosphate will encourage the rye to make a vigorous fall growth. Unmanured gardens need green crops in the fall and winter.

MARKETING POTATOES—Most late potatoes will be dug during the next two weeks. Those going directly to market should be graded to uniform size for they will bring better prices. Those to be stored should be protected from sun and rain and allowed to become well cooled before storing in cellars or pits.

Tombstones for Pets

A graveyard for pets at Harrogate, N. Y., contains the remains of 3000 dogs, cats, parrots, canaries, horses, monkeys and other pets. Many of the owners are rich and prominent. Some are poor and have spent their savings to honor their pets. Many are kept covered with beautiful flowers.

Tides Dispose of Sewage.

In Boston and many other coast cities the tides are utilized in the disposal of sewage, part of which is held in reservoirs until strong outgoing tidal currents have developed. Before the turn of the tide the sewage has been carried so far that it has become mixed with an immense body of ocean water and is rendered harmless.

Cleans Silver.

To keep plated silver clean and bright without constant cleaning, which is so injurious to plated articles, dissolve a small handful of borax in a basin with a little hot water and a little soap, put the silver in and let it stand for three or four hours; then pour off the suds, rinse with clean, cold water, and wipe with a soft cloth.

Blouses Go to Many Lengths

THERE is not much that is new to report on the subject of styles in blouses, except that with the advance of summer the proportion of white blouses has grown larger and the public has developed a taste for those models that are higher in the neck at the back. Pale tints with white or cream lace for their decoration are naturally in demand in midsummer, but not to the exclusion of vivid colors by any means. Washable, tailored, cotton blouses in delft blue and in lavender and pink, with narrow cluny or other edges used for bordering their collars and cuffs, provide a crisp neatness that is refreshing to look at in hot weather and are in demand for practical wear.

Georgette is still far in the lead among blouse materials. Beginning with the tie-on style which extends a little below the waist line at the front, blouses go to many lengths. Some have a six-inch frill below the waist, others are plain with a short peplum and very little definition of the waist line, like the blouse of pale pink georgette and white lace shown in the picture. Pin tucks and sprays of flowers embroidered in silk to match the fabric remain in the company of lace on these blouses. A peplum of this length, or longer, is often knife-plated. Going to the extreme in length—about twelve inches—the peplum transforms the blouse into something like a small coat, and blouses of this character in high colors are very pretty for evening or other dressy wear.

Fine blouses of white voile, with drawn work, hem-stitching and a little simple hand embroidery, we have with us in greater force than ever. They were always beloved of gentle women whose taste runs in the direction of sheer, dainty materials and fine hand work. These blouses are lasting and launder to perfection. They look new as long as they last.

The Outstretched Hands

By REV. GEORGE E. GUILLE
Extension Department, Moody
Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT.—All day long have I stretched forth my hands unto a disobedient and gainsaying people.—Rom. 10:21.

The fact that this text, quoted from Isaiah 65:2, applies primarily to Israel, is not in any way lessened by the force of its world-wide appeal, for Scripture abundantly witnesses that this is the attitude of our Savior-God toward all men everywhere, and that Jehovah of the Old Testament, pleading with Israel, is our Lord Jesus of the New Testament. And what hands are these that so patiently plead with men?

1. They are almighty hands. It is to the Son that the words in Heb. 1:10 are addressed. "The heavens are the works of thine hands," and of Him it is written in John 3:35, "The Father loveth the Son, and hath given all things into his hand."

2. They are pierced hands. "They pierced my hands and my feet" was written of Him a thousand years before He was born. But who pierced them? O man, let me tell you! It was your sins that did it! Your sins that held Him there upon the cross—your need, more than all the legions of the Roman army, that prevented His escape and kept all the hosts of heaven from breaking through to His relief.

3. They are sheltering hands. Those pierced hands tell of a mighty transaction that He has finished for you, of that awful death in which He was "made sin" for you and me, and in which He bore His own breast to the judgment stroke that was your due and mine. They tell of something that has been done for you not of something that you must do for Him, and proclaim the everlasting peace made by Him between an offended God and every soul that will receive Him. "Peace be unto you: and when he had so said, he showed unto them his hands." (John 20:20).

4. They are saving hands. For He has said, "I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish, neither shall any man pluck them out of my hand." (John 10:28). They are saved and safe who fall into those almighty, pierced hands! O blessed shelter! O safe retreat! Is it yours? A few more steps upon the road, a few more risings and settings of the sun, and you shall be face to face with the need of this infinite refuge. God help you to accept it now!

5. They are pleading hands. More eloquent than the silverest speech are they of the compassionate heart, of the wooing love, of the welcoming mercy, of the reconciling, saving grace and keeping power of the Savior. For hearken—it has been put into the feeble language of men. "Now then are we ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech by us, WE PRAY YOU IN CHRIST'S STEAD, be ye reconciled to God." (II Cor. 5:20).

6. Unto whom are those hands stretched forth? To His foes! For whether we like it or not, this is what sin has made of every one. Enemies! "When we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of His Son." (Rom. 5:10). And, "The carnal mind is enmity against God." (Rom. 8:7).

7. How long? "All day." All through this lengthened period he calls "today"—this day of privilege and grace to sinners; this day of "the long-suffering of our Lord which is salvation." All through these days and hours of your sin, of your joyless pursuit of pleasure, of your setting at naught of things worth while for trifles lighter than air, or your disregard of Him and His great salvation.

8. But the day shall close. "The night cometh"—night to which no dawn succeeds. "The outstretched hands shall be withdrawn. Too late!

9. Oh, the bitter end of your unheeding! "Because I have called, and ye refused; I have stretched out my hand, and no man regarded; but ye have set at naught all my counsel, and would none of my reproof; I also will laugh at your calamity; I will mock when your fear cometh; when your fear cometh as desolation, and your destruction cometh as a whirlwind; when distress and anguish cometh upon you. Then shall they call upon me, but I will not answer; they shall seek me early, but they shall not find me." (Prov. 1:24-28).

10. Alas! for that awful cry in the latter day; that bitter, heart-rending cry, when men find the welcoming hands withdrawn.

11. Blessed now to fall into those saving hands! But then—"It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God!"

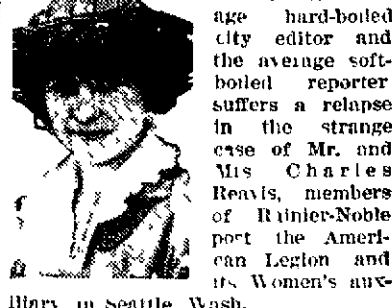

12. As to Unbelief. For what if some did not believe? Shall their unbelief make the faith of God without effect?—Romans 3:3.

13. Or Burn the Bridges. Be sure you are right, then go ahead, but don't destroy your way back—Wayside Tales

THEY'RE GOOD "LEGION MEN"

Washington State Newspaper Pair are Members of the Ex-Service Men's Organizations.

The time honored tradition of violent feeling supposed to exist between the average hard-boiled city editor and the average soft-boiled reporter suffers a relapse in the strange case of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reavis, members of the Rindler-Noble port the American Legion and its Women's auxiliary, in Seattle, Wash.

Before the war Reavis was a city editor and Dora Deane, a Pacific coast woman newspaper writer, was one of his cub reporters. When Reavis went to war with the 1st Division cavalry, Miss Dora became city editor. Returning after the armistice, the ex-cub editor sought to regain the editorial reins by marrying Miss Deane. Finding that as Mrs. Reavis she was the managing editor while he became a cub, Reavis forsook the game and became Associated Press correspondent in Seattle.

"She was pretty good as a cub reporter," Reavis says. "But as managing editor, she is a wonder." Mrs. Reavis continues as Dora Deane of the Seattle Daily Times.

INDIAN, LEGION POST BOSS

Eliaz Wesley and Sixteen Washington Buddies Also Control Town of White Swan.

Where his fathers once tried to resist the civilization of the white man, Eliaz Wesley, fullblood Yakima Indian, commander of an American Legion post, and sixteen of his Yakima "buddies" now control the prosperous town of White Swan, Wash.

More than half of the post's members are fullblood Indians. Wesley, the commander, is the village meat cutter. The remainder of the Indians, all members of the Commercial club, are engaged in business in the town. All are graduates of a government school and are better educated than the average American.

Because he was a meat cutter, when Wesley enlisted in the United States navy they made him ship's cook on the U. S. S. Western Chief. In the membership of the post there is a Medal of Honor, a Medaille Militaire, a Croix de Guerre and a Victoria cross.

"GRAND OLD MAN" OF 137TH

Kansas Editor Recently Received Distinguished Service Cross for Valor in Action.

A newspaper editor who left off lambasting the Germans in his column and went to lambast them in person is John H. O'Connor of the Winfield (Kan.) Courier, who recently received the Distinguished Service Cross for exceptional valor in action.

The "grand old man" of the One Hundred and Thirty-seventh Infantry regiment during its service in France, Editor O'Connor also commanded a battalion during the heaviest fighting and won the highest rank of lieutenant colonel. In September, 1918, in Montebell Wood he received a note penciled on the back of an old envelope, telling him he was the highest officer left in the regiment. Forthwith he assumed command of his own unit, added on all other troops in the wood, organized a brigade front, beat off two Boche attacks and directed the advance on Exermont.

Mr. O'Connor attended the first caucus of the American Legion in Paris in 1919 and was one of the newspaper men who drew the resolution giving the Legion its name.

FARM, CURE FOR SHELLSHOCK

Thousands of Victims Have Recovered, According to Data Collected by American Legion.

The symphony of droning mowers, cultivators and threshers is a specific cure for shellshock. Of the thousands of World war veterans who turned to agriculture at the termination of hostilities, virtually all have recovered from the effects of shellshock. This is shown by a recent survey which is being studied by the national organization of the American Legion. The report likewise indicates that shellshock victims who settled in the cities have not yet regained their health.

The experiment of sending shellshock cases to the farms was tried with success in Canada, where more than 25,000 soldiers have taken farms under the soldiers' re-establishment act. The government has loaned more than $110,000,000 to these men and their first year's crop was valued at approximately $14,000,000. Today the average soldier farmer, the survey concludes, is enjoying ruddy health and sound finances.

Weighting Without Scales.

The reasonableness of the Irish is shown in their method of weighing without scales. "To weigh a pig," said an Irishman the other day, "all ye have to do is to lay a plank across a sawhorse, place a big stone on one end of the plank and the pig on the other, then shift the plank until the two things balance. Then ye guess the weight of the stone and ye have the weight of the pig."—Boston Transcript

"Squaring the Circle."

Efforts to "square the circle" date back to remote antiquity. The problem is discussed in the oldest mathematical document extant, the Rhind Papyrus, the date of which is about 2000 B. C.

Do you know what constitutes a strong constitution?

To have sound, healthy nerves, completely under control, digestive organs that are capable of absorbing a hearty meal, means you have a strong constitution! Your general attitude is one of optimism and energy.

But an irritable disposition, frequent attacks of indigestion, and a languid depression, indicate your system is not in correct working order.

Probably you are not eating the proper food. Probably the nutritious elements are not being supplied to your system in the proper way.

Grape-Nuts is the wholesome, delicious cereal that promotes normal digestion, absorption and elimination, whereby nourishment is accomplished without auto-intoxication. A mixture of energy-giving wheat and malted barley comprise the chief elements of Grape-Nuts. A dish at breakfast or lunch is an excellent, wholesome rule to follow.

You can order Grape-Nuts at any and every hotel, restaurant, and lunch room; on dining cars, on lake boats and steamers; in every good grocery, large and small, in every city, town or village in North America.

WE ARE "AT HOME" THE WEEK OF OCTOBER 24-29;
YOUR FRIENDS ARE COMING—
MAY WE EXPECT YOU?

You are invited to a reception in our laundry. Rather a novel and interesting idea, isn't it?

It is one in which modern laundries all over the land, more than 6,000 of them, are joining October 24-29—"Visitors' Week."

Locally we wish to do our part to make this national observance a success—may we have your help?

You'll find our laundry happily busy, sunny, cheerful—an orderly array of smiling faces and shining machines—just such a place as you would associate with thorough, scientific cleanliness.

You'll enjoy seeing our newer, more saving methods of doing the family washing; the gentleness with which we handle delicate family fabrics will delight you.

We'll appreciate the privilege of having you here; we'll value an opportunity to show you about and to tell you something of the secrets of modern laundry service.

Please don't forget the dates—October 24-29—and come any day and hour which best serve your convenience.

The Lost Needle

THERE'S an old English play known as "Gammer Garton's Needle." Its plot is woven around the loss of the family needle—no trifling misfortune in the days of old.

Today, in this era of ours, life is so rich in comforts that we often wonder how folks got along in the ancient world. And we sometimes forget what an important role advertising has played in making life pleasant and altogether livable.

Advertising has one of the leading parts in the eternal drama of dollars. To it is directly due much of the multiplication of products and services which has come about during the last half century.

It has smoothed the mechanics of existence—made life easier and more pleasant by bringing countless necessities—once considered luxuries—within our easy reach and into continuous use.

Think of this when you read these columns. You owe much to advertising.

And you miss much when you fail to read it!

MILE OF FILM SHOWS FAMOUS NAVAL BATTLE

By CLYDE A. REALS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
London, Sept. 29.—The film version of the battle of Ulland, in which the British grand fleet for the first time succeeded in engaging the German grand fleet, and which resulted in the return of the Germans to their stronghold, is now being shown in London.

One mile of film is used in showing the battle, and with the miniature ships are maneuvered with such smoothness and such realistic effect that the picture goes far toward giving the illusion that one is seeing the battle from high over head.

The withering gun fire, the paths of torpedoes swishing through the water, the rapid wheeling of a column of ships to escape the torpedoes, the maneuvers to gain position and races to head off a column of ships, together with rearguard action to defend the escaping German main fleet all interspersed with occasional pictures of actual ships at sea, give a highly realistic effect.

The film has been made with the aid of Maj. Gen. Sir George Ashton, formerly a professor at the Royal Naval College, Greenwich, England. The model ships were moved through out by hand, and to move each one an inch and maintain the illusion and the smoothness of the film, it was necessary to move each one sixteen times. It is estimated that 3,000,000 motions of the models had to be made. To prepare the data required two years, and to make the film, one year.

PLAN SEEDBED FOR ALFALFA

Plenty of Good Barnyard Manure Should Be Applied If Soil Lacks Humus and Fertility.

If you are planning a five or ten-acre field of alfalfa, and you ought to plan it if you do not already have alfalfa, see that the ground is made ready in good shape. Alfalfa needs a hospitable soil, but it isn't so hard to make a soil pretty fairly hospitable. Apply lime if the soil is acid, and plenty of good barnyard manure if it lacks fertility and humus. Then remember this: You cannot get the seedbed too fine for alfalfa; this crop needs a firm, seedbed and to get the very best results, you should see that it gets what it needs.

NATIONS WILL CONSIDER PACIFIC HOLDINGS

Disarmament And Pacific Questions Of World Closely Linked

Washington, Sept. 28. (United Press.)—Practically every rock and coral reef in the Pacific Ocean is involved in the forthcoming Washington conference on limitation of armaments and Far Eastern affairs. The much-discussed Pacific question is not so as the innumerable large and small islands dotting it. It may easily be a question of life or death for the interested powers.

It was not until a generation ago that the great powers perceived the immense value of the Pacific islands, the National Geographic Society declared in a comprehensive review of the Pacific angle of the conference made public today.

"If modern fleets had to be operated 6,000 miles from home without fuel bases, or if cables had to span such distances under water without relay stations, offensive naval warfare and telegraphic communications over wires would be practically impossible," the survey stated. "The great power of the world woke up to this fact in earnest about a generation ago and began taking over island bases and stations in the Pacific that had previously seemed of little more significance than stages for exotic dances and cannibal feasts. Before this, islands and the lands bordering the world's greatest ocean had been acquired chiefly with the idea of exploiting their products, and only the larger areas were considered important. With the realization of the valuable parts that naval bases and relay stations might play in the future, there developed a keen interest in even the tiniest rocks and coral rings."

"As the landlords of the domain that bound the vast bowl of the Pacific now sit three great vitally interested powers—the United States, Great Britain and Japan. In addition there are four nations hardly less interested—China, Russia, Holland and France. Among those countries whose interests are by no means negligible are Mexico, Chile and the other west coast Latin-American states. Spain and Germany have passed from the Pacific; but in passing each has accentuated the problems of the United States. "What may be called the 'stakes' of the various countries whose lands hem in the Pacific vary greatly on a basis of their coast lines. The United States leads in miles of frontage on the Pacific with more than 4,000 miles, counting both the sweep of the Aleutian islands and the part of Alaska above them. The Philippines add a direct frontage of about 1,000 miles more on the other side of the great ocean."

"Asiatic Russia is second with approximately 3,500 miles from Behring Strait to Chosen (Korea), counting the coast line of the sea of Okhotsk, comparable in size to our own Gulf of Mexico."

"But it is the small scattered islands, controlled by these bordering nations that constitute the crux of the 'Pacific problem.' Practically all of the islands in the Pacific proper are under the control of Great Britain, France, the United States and Japan. All of the French and most of the British holdings are situated south of the equator, leaving the United States and Japan in close competition above that line. Guam is practically surrounded by newly acquired Japanese islands, formerly owned by Germany; and Japanese lands skirt the Philippines on three sides. The United States is not a large holder of Pacific islands but it owns the group which is, by far, the most important strategically—Hawaii."

Had Signed Over, Calif's Hair.
My first love affair came to a climax when my sweetheart discovered that he had been carrying a "lock" of the cat's tail next to his heart for several months, under the illusion that it was a lock of my hair. He had insisted upon having a lock of my hair, but I, having none to spare, and finding that the color matched exactly that of my red cuff, substituted that. It answered the purpose very well until a small boy gave the secret away. Then I was denounced as a true daughter of Eve!—Exchange.

Ice Barrier Caused Falls.
Nigara Falls came into existence because ice in past ages closed the ancient outlet of Lake Erie. The lake overflowed along a new course, which caused it to run—over a cliff.

"IRENE," BIG MUSICAL COMEDY, COMING TUESDAY

No musical comedy of recent years has come to us with the stamp of success comparable to that of "Irene" which The Vanderbilt Producing Co. will present to the patrons of the Driggs Theatre on Tuesday next.

"Irene" enjoyed two years of unprecedented success at the Vanderbilt Theatre in the metropolis, and at the same time were filling the big Empire Theatre in London. Later, two more American companies were sent abroad, one to Sydney and the other to Melbourne, Australia. At this time, companies were organized and sent to Boston and Chicago, where the play shattered all known records for receipts and length of runs, winning the distinction of being the greatest international success of modern times.

The production to be seen here is entirely new, being a replica of that utilized in the long runs the play enjoyed, with the exception that the titled modiste, Lady Duff Gordon, who costumed all of the companies has designed and built many new creations for this season's production. The company, each and every one of whom had to qualify with the New York company before receiving their contracts for this tour is above the average, and carries its own symphony orchestra.

Dutch Concert.

A Dutch concert is a so-called concert in which every man sings his own song at the same time that his neighbor is also singing his, a practice not necessarily so national as convivial. There is another form of Dutch concert in which each person sings in turn one verse of any song he pleases, some well-known choruses being used as a burden after each verse. When every person has sung, all sing their respective songs simultaneously as a grand finale.

Avoid Wario's Blind Alleys.

The young man of today does not have to follow the job his father had unless it's the job best suited for him. The wise youth finds out what most appeals to him, and then sees to it that he's the best fellow in that business. Such fellows rise to success in spite of handicaps. Then the world wonders and applauds. It's folly to remain cooped up with limitations when you might just as well be enjoying the fullest liberty. If by chance you get into a blind alley see to it that you get out at once.—Grit.

Personal Inspection.

An Irish captain inspecting his company noticed that one of his soldiers had neglected to wash either the back of his neck or his ears. "Hi, you!" he called to him: "you haven't washed yourself at the back! Right about face and look at yourself!"—Edinburgh Scotsman.
